

- A. Open the lid of the fuel tank by using the handle on the left-hand side and push it towards the burner, as shown above.
 - B. Open a container of bioethanol. Insert the hose (1) without the quick coupling into the container.
 - C. First, guide the hose with the quick coupling (2) to the fireplace's tank filling point and insert it until it clicks and locks securely.
 - D. Once both hoses are correctly positioned, the plug (3) can then be inserted.
- When the plug is securely in place, the pump will begin filling. Wait until the tank is full.
- E. The fireplace is equipped with a sensor that stops the pump when the bioethanol reaches a certain level. This mechanism helps prevent the risk of overfilling the tank.
 - F. Once the pump has stopped, first remove the plug, followed by the quick coupling. Release the quick coupling by pressing the button (4).

IMPORTANT: The sequence of steps must be followed!
